

Figure 2–5.—The delayed release of rainwater from forested soils of the uplands maximizes the value of downstream water impoundments that are vital to urban centers.